Tennessee and other States are still in a crippled condition, and it is impossible to tell how great the loss of life will prove. Many alarming rumers have gained credence, but confirmation of several reputed disasters cannot be obtained.

New York City was all but isolated from the rest of the world a great part of yesterday. On Lake Eric the gale was severe, a number of vessels being wrecked or driven ashore. Twenty-foot waves swept in from the lake, causing serious damage to wharves and buildings along the water front.

At Leraine, Q, the heaviest sea in many years destroyed the govern-

The waterworks reservoir near Chanacey, O., broke and the flood swept down on the town, one mile away, destroying a number of buildings and flooding the city.

Throughout Ohio and West Virginia all streams were flooded and overflowed their banks, carrying away bridges and trestles, severely interfering with railroad traffic.

by 500 insurgents, of whom 100 were armed with rifes, the remainder carrying bolos. Growing bolder the attcking party even essayed one or two charges, only to be cut down by a withering fire from Krags. Despite the difference in numbers of the contending parties the superiority rested with the smaller force, both in accuracy of shooting, handling pieces and in experience gained in other encounters.

After a fight lasting four hours, the attacking party drew off leaving on the field twenty-two dead and five wounded. On the American side Private Richard C. Cummings was killed and Sergt, Schroeder was seriously wounded in the hip. An examination of the field showed evidences that many more of the intives had been wounded, but their companions had succeeded in carrying them off. The killed and wounded Americans were conveyed to Echague.

There are no pure forests of any one species, rarely more than three or four trees of one variety being found grouped together, so that a lumberman looking for a shipload of one kind of timber would find it practically impossible to cut that and no other, and cargoes must be assembled from different sources of information he is led to believe the public forest lands comprise from one-fourth to possibly one-half the area of the Philippines, or from twenty to forty million acres. There are fully five million acres. There are fully five million acres. In many other provinces of Luson, especially in the country close to Manila, much timber has been cut and to fill large contracts the lumbermen are obliged to go quite a distance from the city in order to find a sultable tract.

Capt. Ahern mentions tracts of virgents the resets for the seast feat the seast of the seast feat the seast of the seas

Capt. Ahern mentions tracts of virgin forests to be seen on the southern islands, where from 10,000 to 20,000 cubic feet of magnificent timber per acre was standing with trees more than 150 feet high, the trunks clear of branches for sixty feet and more than four feet in diameter. He states that in these forests there are millions of cubic feet of timber, which should be cut out in order to thin this dense growth, so that the maximum annual growth could be obtained.

There is a large variety of valuable gun, rubber and guita percha trees, seventeen varieties of dye woods and ylang-ylang, the oil from blossoms of which latter tree is the base of so many perfumes.

There are no forest roads or river driveways in the islands considered worthy of mentioning. At present the trees are felled far from any road and hauled out very slowly by one or more cariboos, with the result that many tracts are left untouched.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Herald's Washington special says that like a thunderboil from a clear sky came the tidings to Washington of a sudden agreement of the ministers in Peking upon the protocol embodying the terms for China. not differ from those suggested several weeks ago.

The administration is tonight considering two courses that are open to it. One is to assent to the demands formulated by the ministers, in order to maintain the concert of action. The other is to repudiate Conger's action, withdraw from the concert, and begin adependent negotiations.

Between these two courses only one shoice is possible, according to the view taken at the White House. That, is that cooperation with the powers must continue. The President is apparently unwilling to abandon the concert, believing that he can best secure the ends he is seeking by remaining and trying fo modify the terms as now referred to the powers for their struggle to secure a modification, especially in the matter of the punishment and indemnity. There is likely to be an active interchange of views between the powers during the next few days. Although Conger has acted contrary to the wishes of the administration, it is stated on high authority that there is no ground for the report that he would be recalled. At the same time, it is likely that Secretary Hay will think best to show his displeasure in an official communication to the Minister.

DENIAL OF GERMAN STORY.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) BERLIN, Nov. 26.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] The entire German press refers editorially this evening to a report that United States Ambassador White Saturday handed the American note regarding the Chinese settlement to Baron Yon Richthofen, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, all the papers declaring that Germany refused to comply with the demands therein formulated. When Ambassador White was approached on this subject this evening, he replied that he had had no interview with Baron Yon Richthofen on Saturday, nor had he then received the American note. He asserted that he had received nothing from Washington since Thursday, and that what he received them was not a note, but merely instructions, in consequence of which he had an interview with the Secretary of Foreign Affairs Friday. Ambassador White reiterated that the result of the Friday interview was satisfactory, adding: "It was merely an interview and exchange of views, in which no definite propositions were submitted and no definite engagements were entered upon. What was said was in the nature of a suggestion looking toward greater moderation in the punishments, but this was only a sugestion, which Germany could either accept or reject. It was not a formal proposition."

The Vossische Zeitung says: "A demand for moderation in the punishments is a sensible demand which Germany could accept without loss of dignity, especially as it appears that Great Britain sides in this particular with the United States."

CONGER TO RETURN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A Washington dispatch to the World says: "Minster Conger probably will return to the administration have not been harmonitous since the relief of Peking. Mr.

Conger advocates measures which the President regards as too radical, and has not taken kindly to the fact that his wishes have not been indorsed at

In apology: suppression of the Boxers of tauserial seedamation; punishment in future of officials failing to protect to reigners, and suspension of provincial zaminations for five years.

The Secretary of State urged that longer should agree to only such desands as he was reasonably kin's would accepted and could be carried out by he Chinese government. In expectation that the ministers would persist in heir harsh course, the Secretary capted the American representatives alroad the, text of the instructions sent to onfer, and urged the powers not to onfer, and urged the powers and the powers would last upon demands which China under possibility could accept, and the major of partition would become even easer than it is today.

The administration will not join in a demands, however, without a regard to the conferce of the powers would last upon demands which China under possibility could accept, and the major of partition would become even easer than it is today.

The upon demands which the interval of the imposition of the lowers of such a course, however, are apparent that it is deemed unwise to the limited states. Russia and France are opposed to asking more than the one of the powers would last upon demands which China under the number of the limited states, Russia and France are opposed to asking more than the understands the folly of asking the import of powers which would at once show its weakness and renew the "conflict. WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The State Department has been informed of the agreement or understanding, or preliminary treaty (it is not possible now to learn in just what form the matter stands) reached by the foreign ministers at Peking, but it may be stated that the arrangement stands a very poor chance of receiving the sanction of all the powers unless some material amendments are permitted.

Just what the objectionable features are can only be surmised. But accepting as accurate the statement from Peking that the basis of the agreement is to be found in the French note, it is easy to perceive that there are no less than two points which, if included in their original shape, would not meet with the unqualified approval of this government. For instance, the President expressly reserved his opinion as to the proposition that the Taku forts be dismantied. He also withheld his approval of the French proposition that there would be a permanent military occupation at two or three points on the road between Tien-Tsin and Feking.

There were several points to which the road between Tien-Tish and Peking.

There were several points to which the assent of the United States was given, namely, providing for the punishment of the guilty Chinese who may be designated by the representatives of the powers at Peking, for the collection of equitable indemnities (and in this connection our government suggested a reference of the subject to The Hague tribunal) and, finally, for the maintenance of a legation guard at Peking. The latter, however, was to be temporary until Congress acted on the matter.

The Secretary promised to second the efforts of the committee in Congress and to recommend the appropriation asked. Tomorrow the committee will call on President McKinley.

fore, it may be predicted that our government will beel obliged to seek to make some alterations in the arrangement before it gives its adherence. There is some reason to believe that the indemnity proposition has taken such an extreme form as to make it impossible for the Chinese government to meet the demand, and this fact, taken in connection with the unreasonable demands of some of the powers respecting punishments, may oblige our government to endeavor to have the demands moderated. There are indications, too, that in these efforts our government is to receive the support of one of the most powerful of the governments represented at the Peking conference, and one which generally has been supposed of late to have favored an extreme position.

IRRIGATION A MAGNET

George H. Maxwell on the Movement.

How the Congress Was Conceived-Los Angeles Men Start Ball Rolling.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.)

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The delegates to the ninth annual convention of the National Irrigation Congress, which closed last Saturday, unanimously declared that greater interest in the irrigation of the arid lands of the United States has been aroused by this convention than by any previously held.
"We believe that the Chicago convention of the National Irrigation Congress has accomplished a great object," said George H. Maxwell, chairman of the Executive Committee. "It has placed before the people of the whole United States the importance of the problem of national irrigation, and has probably brought it to the attention of the people of the East in a manner not otherwise possible. A genuine interest in the subject seems to have been awakened. So much good would result from the carrying-out of the policy by the national government and result in so many different ways, that people who have no interest in irrigation itself are being attracted to the idea.
"It would accomplish the colonization of the West and the creation of a great market for manufacturing; it would result in the employment of labor, the development of mining, in assistance to navigation, in the prevention of floods, and in relief for the congested condition of our cities in supplying material for thousands of small rural homes.

"Last year," continued Maxwell, "Chicago was fixed upon as the meeting place for this year's congress, and work was at once begun by the National Irrigation Association to bring the subject before the people of the East through their commercial organizations. The merchants of Los Angeles began the work by corresponding with several thousand of the eastern merchants and manufacturers who find a market for their goods in that city, a city which is such a magnificent object theore the magnificent object them of the marvelous transformation that water will work in the West.

"The merchants of $1. Paul and national in its broadest sense, and the organizations that are now enlisting in the national irrigation movement are not promoting it from any local or sectional point of view, but from a conviction that the planting of American civilization and the building of homes for fifty million new citizens under the American flag in places which are now waste and desolate is a national purpose which desolate is a national purpose which demands sup-port from every citizen in every sec-tion of the country, because the far-reaching and widespread benefits from the reclamation of this vast area of virgin territory would create a na-tional presperlty in which all would share."

tional presperity in which all would share."

"Are politics likely to enter into the question to any extent?"

"The great political parties of the country in their platforms in the last campaign both indorsed it, and hence the movement is in no sense partizan or political. It rises to the highest and the purest patriotism, and the motto of the movement—"Save the forests and store the floods—is one which can be subscribed to by every citizen of the United States, East and West.

"The great stimulation of businers and production incident to the colonization of the Middle West, where men went out and took up from 160 to 60 acres each and made homes for themselyes, would be small compared with what would occur it 100,000,000 acres of arid land, which would be inexhaustibly fertile if given water and divided into ten and twenty-acre highly-cultivated farms. These facts the Chicago Irrigation Congress has presented to the people of the East, and they are study-ing them."

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—[Associated Press Correspondence. Wired from New York, Nov. 26.] The card catalogue of American exporting merchants and manufacturers, which was sent to Consul-General Holloway recently, has already proved its utility. Col. Holloway got the newspapers to insert a notice about the matter, and received inquiries for addresses within twenty-four hours. He has already had inquiries from a dozen persons, all of whom desired three of four classes of addresses. One Moscow merchant submitted a list of twelve classes of exporters, whose addresses he desired.

Minister of Agriculture Termaloff last year requested Ambassador Tower to procure for him an assortment of American seeds for experimental purposes. Ambassador Tower sent for cotton, apple, corn, apricot, peach and other seeds and plants. Minister Yermaloff in conversation with Tower this week, informed him that his experiments had resulted far better than had been anticipated. The peaches and apples are flourishing in the Caucasus, the corn in the Caucasus and Central Asia, and the cotton in Turkestan.

Col. Yermaloff, the brother of the Minister, has just returned from the United States, where he had been recuperating since the close of the Cuban war. He spoke in the most complimentary terms of the American commanders whose acquaintance he made as Russia's military representative in Cuba, and of the hospitality of the Americans.

Young Mr. Phillips sold what corn changed hands at that point, and shorts did the buying that advanced the market to gave notice of the half-dollar achieve-ment, and there was a flocking toward the already overcrowded corn pit from all over the floor. The tip-top figure was made in the first hour, November starting at 46 cents, selling between 46 and 50 cents, and closing at 49 cents. The slight final recession was, like the others which have been experienced, brought about by selling by the bull leader.

The man with the corner in the hollow of his hand is apparently not ready to let it get away from him. He has watched the careers of other men with corners, and believes that most of them lost because of their greed to exfort the last penny. All morning the little "Corn King" stood on the edge of the pit and watched the ebb and flow of the battle. Whenever the clamorous "shorts" howled up the price in the face of unresponsive takers, he pushed to the front of the line and let out more corn.

clamorous "snorts" howled up the price in the face of unresponsive takers, he pushed to the front of the line and let out more corn.

Some of the dealers thought the juvenile-looking speculator was in straits, and was running to wind up his string. They jumped on the market and tried to sell corn at 4% cents. Phillips turned instantly from seller to buyer, from bear to bull, and snapped up every man who was offering to shade the price that he was making. The decline stopped at once. Phillips showed to the corn pit that he was its master; that he could regulate it at will.

The followers who tried to get some of the "Corn King's" money in the delusion that he was weakening, are now wondering where they will get off, Friday. The closing price was & cents, a reaction due to Phillips's buying. It is significant to some traders that he firms who are reputed to be at the mercy of Phillips have not given any sigu of excitement or wory. They have not shown their hands in the pit. They are watching affairs as closely as the king of the golden cereal. There is still some talk of special trains coming from the country with corn enough to make good the obligations to Phillips. To the outsider there is no sign of this predicted movement.

"The Chinese stronghold at Tien-Tsin was captured early on the morning of July 14; on the same day systematic attacks upon the beleaguered legations at Peking ceased; an informal truce was arranged at the instance of the Tsung Li Yamen; communication between the besieged and the outside world was partially reopened; the legations were offered certain supplies by the Chinese authorities, and, although subjected to desultory attacks from time to time, and to a fierce anal assault on the night of August 13 were on the following day relieved by the entrance into Peking of the allied forces. During the time of these events both rear-admirals were in Chinese waters. Their prudence and efficiency are highly commendable.

RECOMMENDATIONS. He recommends that the grade of vice-admiral be revived, and that the recommends that the grade of vice-admiral be revived, and that the statutes be amended to give relief to officers serving in newly-acquired waters which are not now considered as "beyond seas." In this connection attention is invited to the hardships suffered by officers and men of the Marine Corps detailed to shore duty in Guam or in China. The Army Appropriation Act, approved May 28, 1900, provides that 10 per cent. additional pay shall be given to officers and 20 per cent. additional pay to enlisted men serving in Porto Rico, Cuba, the Philippine Islands, Hawail and the Territory of Alaska. This provision is applicable to the Marine Corps, but, being specific in its terms, is limited to the places designated, and is not operative elsewhere. Consequently, officers and men of the Marine Corps who were sent to Guam of China from Porto Rico, Hawail, the Philippine Islands, or Alaska last the increased pay given by the act of May 26.

Not only was the total number of cases under treatment smaller than for several years, but the death rate from disease was less than the average for the same period. Owing to deaths from gunshot wounds, the mortality rate from injuries was, however, somewhat greater than usual. During the past year a large proportion of the naval force has been employed on the Asiatic station, principally about the Philippines. Considering the climatic conditions and the exposure to which officers and men were necessarily subjected, the health of the squadron has been remarkably good. New hospitals have been established abroad. General shows that the health of the STATE NAVAL MILITIA. The department last year gave the various State naval militias, which are various State naval militias, which are an important element in the general scheme of national defense, a tour of duty on board ship, with the object of so instructing them in man-of-war routine and duties as to enable them upon the outbreak of war to have sufficient knowledge to be of practical use on our naval vessel. The same facilities were again offered this year, although some of the State organizations though some of the State organizations falled to take advantage of them.

INCREASE OF THE NAVY.

The general board, of which the admiral of the navy is president, recommend the following increase of the navy: Battleships, 2; armored cruisers, 2; gunbonts, 6; destroyers, 2; torpedo boats, 3; transport, 1; training ships, 2. Four of the five members of the Board on Construction recommend; Unsheathed battleships of about 13,500 tons trial displacement, 3; unsheathed armored cruisers of about 2000 tons trial displacement, 2; sheathed and coppered cruisers of about 2000 tons trial displacement, 6; sheathed and coppered gunboats of about 600 tons coppered cruisers of about 2000 tons trial displacement, 6; sheathed and coppered light-draft gunboats of about 600 tons trial displacement, 10; colliers of about 14,500 tons displacement, 12; colliers of about 14,500 tons displacement, 12; repair ship of about 7500 tons displacement, 1; transport of about 7500 tons trial displacement and 19 knots trial speed, 2; sheathed and coppered armored cruisers of about 14,000 tons trial displacement and 22 knots trial speed, 2; sheathed and coppered armored cruisers of about 22,500 tons trial displacement and not less than 24 knots trial speed, 2; light-draft gunboats, specially designed for river service, of about 600 tons trial displacement and 10 knots trial speed, 12.

"All the vessels thus recommended are desirable in the prospective development of our naval force," the Secretary says; "but in view of the number of large fighting vessels already authorized, some of them hardly begun, the department is of opinion that Congress at its coming session should be asked for only two battleships and two armored cruisers, all of the maximum displacement specified; that at least six light-draft gunboats and some small craft for river service are especially desirable in connection with our insular service, and that the colliers, training ships, transport and repair ship are the necessary accompaniment of the general recent increase of the navy, both in its fighting force and in the enlarged range of its operations. The department therefore makes its recommendation in accordance with this opinion."

Under the head of "Rewards of Offi-Under the head of "Rewards of Officers," considerable attention is paid to the advancement of certain officers own the heads of others, thus delaying the promotion of the latter, who may also be deserving. A remedy is found in either of the two bills before Congress, one of which provides that such advancement shall not interfere with the regular promotion of other officers entitled thereto, and the other bill provides for three classes of medals—the "honor," "courage" and "service" medals—to be presented by the President and Secretary of War. A feature of the latter system which, the Secretary says, dommends itself, is found in the fact that it is applicable to the men as well as to the officers. In conclusion Secretary Long says:

"The bestowal of these special rewards is urged because it is appropriate and just that they should be given, and not from the fear that duty will not be well done without them. The fact that the nation's acknowledgments are lagging behind the brilliant performance of its officers and men in active service does not seem to have in any degree impaired the quality of their patriotism and devotion to duty. "The past year has been so prolific of such examples that, while the enumeration of them in detail is here impracticable, the department calls special attention to the official reports in which they appear. They are found in every line of the naval service, not only in battle, which makes service conspicuous, but on the voyage. In watches along the coast, in expeditions to distant islands, in the trying responsibilities of command often unaided and alone, in the unmartial work of transportation, in hospital and on station, in surveys and soundings, in instruction and discipline, in the inestimably valuable preparatory work of the bureaus and navy yards, and in all the shifting variety of exacting duties in which service, if not conspicuous, is none the less deserving and is rendered with a zeal, loyalty and ability as heroic in the homely routine of commonplace as when exhibited on the field of glory.

"There is no finer type of the public servant trained to high sense of his official obligations, and no hand in which the honor of his country and the rights of its citizens are safer, than are to be found in the navy of the United States."

Game Commissioner Johnson and Deputies Bound for Meeker-Overmeyer's Rough Riders Held in Readiness-Vigorous Action Decided On.

RIFLE (Col.,) Nov. 26.—Game Commissioner Johnson and his deputies arrived at Rifle last night and proceeded to Meeker by stage today. It is a forty-five-mile ride, and will require the entire day. While the commissioner was here he received reports from ranchmen which indicate that the slaughter of rame has been unprecedented in the history of the State. Old-timers in this country predict trouble with the Indians before they are finally removed to their reservations.

ty-four hours from receipt of notice to start.
Fear is expressed at the capital that Commissioner Johnson will make the attack on the Indians against overwhelming odds.
Gov. Thomas received a communication from Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock at Washington, stating that the government has sent its Indian agent to scour Northwestern Colorado for marauding Indians, but failed to find one. There was a hint in the communication that this would end the correspondence so far as the government was concerned. Instead of pacifying the Governor it has a tendency to make him more vigorous in his application of the State laws. Creditors of the Count and Countess Attempt to Prevent Payment of Her Inheritance—Test Suit by London Bric-a-brac Dealer,

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.1 NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Samuel Untermeier applied to and obtained today from Justice Fitzgerald, sitting in the Supreme Court, an injunction order returnable on Monday next, against the Count and Countess Castellane, Edwin and George Gould, Howard Gould and Helen M. Gould, as trustees under the will of Jay Gould, restraining them from paying to Anna Gould, Countess De Castellane, any part of the estate in the hands of the trustees, or from in the hands of the trustees, or from applying any part of the trust fund to the debts of Anna Gould, or to her support or that of her children, until the further action of the court, The plaintiff in the suit is Anthony J. Ditmar, who sues as assignee of Asher Wertheimer, a London bric-abrac dealer. The complaint, which is a long printed document, contains copies of drafts drawn by Wertheimer and accepted in writing by the Count and Countess of Castellane, amounting to upward of $35,000, of which $285,000 and upward are past due. It is alleged that Anna Gould has $18,000,000 held in trust for her by her brothers and sister, and that her income is about $390,000.

It is claimed that $250,000 a year is all that the Count and Countess require for their support, and the plaintiff asks that the remainder of the income should be applied to the payment of the couple's debts. It is said that over $250,000 of surplus income J. Ditmar, who sues as assignee of ment of the couple's debts. It is said that over $25,000 of surplus income has already accumulated, which ought to be used for this purpose. The present suit is s.id to be a test care, and it is reported is backed by other creditors than Werthelmer.

A few weeks ago George Gould was appointed guardian for the Countess De Castellane in a decision in the French court. The creditors claim that the purpose of this proceeding was to get the property of the Countess De Castellane away from attack by her creditors, so as to enable the Goulds to force settlement of the debts at their own time and on their own terms.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Centrists have introduced a bill in the Reichstag allowing Catholics and other dissenters freer worship and allowing the return of the Jesuits.

The colonial budget, which has reached the Reichstag, provided for an estimated deficit of 37,332,151 marks. The revenues are estimated at only 7,073,000 marks. All the colonies show large deficits. That of German Samoa is 146,000 marks. Kiao Chou needs 10,750,000 marks. The revenues there are only 300,000 marks. The Samoa estimate includes provision for twenty-six policemen.

Guatemala Must Pay American Railroad Contractor Damages for Breaking of Contract.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—It is unofficilly but reliably reported to the Department of State that Mr. Jenner, the British umpire in the arbitration of the case of Robert H. May, an American citizen, against the government of Guatemala, has rendered a judgment in favor of the claimant to the amount of $140,000 American gold.

May entered into a contract with the Guatemalan government to operate and improve a railway, for which he was to receive a monthly subvention of $55,000, ke-p the revenues of the road and be paid for certain extra work. He began his work in April, 1898, out in October of the same year was dispossessed by military force.

Int it is perfectly plain to an unprejudiced mind that labor associations, organized to restrict the number of persons angusted in certain industries, and in various ways to regulate the prosecution of these infinityles, are trusts in the true sense of 'ye term.

These labor trusts have many things in common with the organizations which they descence a trust. Their methods are similar in many respects. They seek to regulate the distribution of the commodity (alsor) in which they deal: to make it dearer by decreasing the available supply; to shut out legitimate and honest competition from those who are not in the combine. In those who are not in the combine. In the form of the components will watch every respects. It will be well if partisanship be discarded in the solution of these grave problems.

The Republican party stands face to face with the greatest opportunities and the most serious crises in its history. Our opponents will watch every min so very mistake that may be made. Already they are predicting that Republican management will be such as to bring upon itself public condemnation before the end of the next four years, if not before the next Congressional election, two years hence. "The Republicans have been given plenty of rope," they say, "and will hang themselves in due time." It rests with Republicans to prove the faisity of these predictions, and by a wise and statesmanifike management of public affairs to deserve and to hold the confidence which the American people have reposed in it. Under the conservative and wise leadership of our great President this will be done.

Omaha is delighted that Gen. Fitz-hugh Lee is coming to that city to command the Department of the Missouri. The Daily News suggests a public reception commensurate with Gen. Lee's greatness in army, social and national affairs, and says: "The powers at Washington could not have sent Omaha a more distinguished commander, and it behooves the city to extend to Gen. Lee a patriotic welcome replete with hospitality such as will make the old warrior feel that it is but a step from Virginia to Nebraska, and that the busy Westerners can vie with the leisurely Southerners in the dispensation of hospitality."

THE PLAYHOUSES.

BURBANK THEATER. This is the BURBANK THEATER. This is the last week of the present engagement of the Oliver-Leslie company at the Burbank, and the play is William Gillette's farcical comedy, yclept "All the Comforts of Home."

Comforts of Home."

The play is all action. It goes with dash and spirit from first to last. Unlike some other productions which pass current as farce-comedy, it has enough plot to hold its several parts well together, and the story, though utterly and wildly improbable, is possible in its main incidents. Harry Corson Clarke is temporarily marry Corson Clarke is temporarily a member of the Oliver-Lesile company, and has the role of the gay and festive Theodore Bender. His enactment of this role is a distinct creation. It is a superb character portrayal, clearly conceived, conscientiously set forth, replete with well-handled lights and shades, artistic, consistent and satisfications.

clearly conceived, conscientiously set forth, replete with well-handled lights and shades, artistic, consistent and satisfying. Mr. Clarke's make-up is perfect. His own personality is entirely subordinated to that of Bender, and the portrayal, in its entirety, is as complete a piece of dramatic representation as the most exacting critic could in reason demand.

Joseph Kilgour, the new leading man of the company, has the role of Alfred Hastings. This character is not one to test Mr. Kilgour's quality in the matter of versatility. His methods, so far as can be judged by this one portrayal, are excellent. He has a good stage presence, and his manner is easy, natural and confident. To the character of Hastings he gives a distinct and strong personality—a personality which is withal extremely pleasing, and which has the true element of grotesquerie that the character demands. Mr. Kilgour makes a decidedly favorable impression would no doubt be confirmed if we were permitted to see him in other characters.

Lesie Morosco has done nothing better during this engagement than his portrayal of the character of Tom Mc-Adow. The amount of physical exercise which Mr. Morosco gets in this role is something remarkable. If he were to play the part continuously he would surely become a formidable athlete without further training. It is a striking character, excellently portrayed.

The roles of Christopher Dabney, by lete without further training. It is a striking character, excellently portrayed.

The roles of Christopher Dabney, by John Steppling; Augustus McSnath, by T. J. McGrane; Judson Langham, by Frederick Hardley; Victor Smythe, by Harry G. Keenan, and Egbert Petitione, by Walton Townsend, are each excellent in their way. The work of Mr. Townsend in the role of Petitione is especially good.

Anne Sutherland presents a pleasing interpretation in the role of Fild Ortianski. That new costume for which the esteemed Mr. Bender pays so gorgeous a price, appears to be natty, chic, charming, and easily worth the money. But Miss Sutherland is quite too awfully stingy in the matter of allowing the audience to admire its beauties. There is a scurry, a rush, a meteoric flash, a vague suggestion of red tights filled with sweet feminisity, and all is over. A snap-shot flend couldn't catch 'em to save his neck. The auditors are bewildered, and there's a general feeling among them that they have been cheated out of what is justly their due. The final verdict is that Miss Sutherland is mighty mean, and that if this new costume is worth exhibiting at all it should be exhibited—not fagunted.

Nina Morris makes a decided hit in the character of Josephine Bender, the awful creature who is the récognized boss of her husband, Theodore. Miss Morris is especially clever in the "postmortem" scene, in which the recreases.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Tree-planting Act.

Editor of The Times:] The City Improvement and Boulevard Association is submitting, with the aid of the Council, to the vote of the people at the next city election an act known as the for the uniform planting of shade trees for the uniform planting of shade trees and their maintenance for a period of time, and for the cleaning of lots from weeds. In our land of perpetual sunshine nothing is more needed than shade trees to make walking on our streets during the warm hours of the day enjoyable. The improvement association hopes that not a dissenting vote will be cast. The cry throughout the United States in all cities is "beautify." We have built up in a remarkable short time a beautiful city, but its beauty largely consists in the fine advantages nature has favored us with. As a city we have done little to be proud of. To keep the prestige nature has given us, we must keep in line with the progress of the age.

From time to time commissions have been appointed to form plans to connect Los Angeles with Pasadeen by a fine boulevard, but none has accomplished anythin feasible or tangible. At last a party of gentlemen have been able to not only lay out a splendid route, but to actually commence work on it with a first outlay of 335,000 for the first two miles. The route is as follows: Commencing at Agricultural Park, thence taking in all of beautiful Figueroa street, and making connections with the center of the town through the Third-street tunnel, over Second street, and making connections with the center of the town through the Third-street tunnel, over Second street, and to Lakashore avenue to Echo Park road to Elysian Park, The main line continues up : rough the pretty hills on toward the valley. There Fells road is met, one of the pretty hills on toward the valley. There Fells road is met, one of the pretty hills on toward the valley. [Chicago News:] Parls has discovered "Teddy" Roosevelt. The Matin predicts he will be elected President in 1904, and at the close of a eulogistic article says: "When his career is carefully studied one is astounded to find himself face to face with a real man." NEGRO REPUBLICANS.

NEGRO REPUBLICANS.

The colored Republicans of this city held a well-attended meeting last night in Elk's Hall, and to the accompaniment of singing by colored vocalists and enthusiastic applause, the audience listened to many good speeches by various city candidates, headed by Herman Silver, Republican nominee for Mayor. Rev. J. E. Edwards of the A. M. E. Church, presided, and in a neat speech introduced Herman Silver. Mr. Silver began by saying he rejoiced he had lived to see the day when colored people could meet to discuss the issues of the day, for he personally had seen many instances when they could not. "I appear before you," he declared, "not as Mr. Silver, but as the nominee of the Republican party." [Applause.] "I reaffirm my previous statement that I stand firmly on the Republican city platform, which stands for law and order, and good government, and it remains for you to say whether you wasne things, or whether you desire a platform such as the Democrats have, which is as elastic as it can be.

"I don't think it is necessary for me to defend my character before the colored citizens, but I will read them a letter." He then read a letter written by Charles Sumner some years ago, recommending Herman Silver as an honest man and a good citizen. "If I am elected," concluded Mr. Silver, "every man, woman and child in this city will receive what is due them, but if they violate the laws they will be punished."

violate the laws they will be punished."

Deputy District Attorney C. D. Wilbur made an interesting address, reviewing the results of the recent national election, and touching briefly on local issues. He declared that the water question is not an issue in the city campaign, because all the people irrespective of political affiliations, had settled that question almost two years ago by a vote of 7 to 1 on the proposition of issuing bonds with which to redeem the waterworks. He concluded by comparing the city platforms of the two parties on the saloon question, showing in a strong manner how weak the Democratic platform is.

Short speeches were then made by E. P. Ford, W. A. Hartwell, A. A. Allen, W. B. Mathews, Ben Ward, W. A. White, Frank Hudson and Harry Stafford, Capt. G. W. Hawkins, J. J. Nelmore and Revs. D. R. Jones and C. A. Anderson also made ringing speeches. Fine vocal music was rendered during the evening by the Glenwood Male Quartette, and the Colonial Female Quartette.

FOURTH-WARD CLUB E. A. Meserve addressed a large audience at the meeting of the Fourth-Ward Republican Club at the corner of Union avenue and Pico street last evening. He spoke ardently in the interests of Mr. Silver. The salcons came in for a scoring, and Mr. Meserve said that although the Republicans had not coveted a fight with the liquor element of the city, the challenge made by that class supporting Mr. Snyder would be taken up and fought to the end.

The meeting was enthusiastic, and Mr. Meserve was frequently applauded. At the close of the meeting the Executive Committee of the Fourth Wardheld a brief meeting. This committee was appointed to further the candidacy of Mr. Silver, and the object of the session last evening was to arrange for another ward meeting to be held later in the week on Pico Heights.

A letter was received from C. C. Davis, Esq. heartily indorsing Mr. Silver and inclosing 35.

ONLY ROUTINE AFFAIRS TOUCHED BY THE COUNCIL.

The "Elevated Cinco" Takes Good to See That the Pay Roll of the Police Department is Passed in Good Time.

The stagnation of the city campaign struck the Council yesterday with great force. Very little business was actually transacted, nearly everything being deferred or referred to a committee. There was one item of business that went through in a hurry. The "high five" took good care that the pay roll for the police department, amounting to 1901.21, was passed. It was the only pay roll before the Council, a tribute to the energy of the Police Commission or to the forenight of some of the "five" who know the part the police play in city politics.

ETORM DRAIN NEEDED.

the City Engineer again called attention to the imperative necessity for conscious a storm drain at once along to shore avenue from Temple to at street. The heavy rains last week sed much damage to the expensive provement now being made by ding the street and surfacing it he decomposed granite. The Engineer need out in his report that should dimitar storm occur after the actance of the improvement by the the expense entailed would be ater than the cost of the storm in.

The report was referred to the Board The report was referred to the Board Public Works, where it will be helved until after the election.

As indicative of the carciesshess and legisgence of the Council in dealing with the situation the following extract rom the report of the City Engineer, and January 2, 1900, will be of interset:

"In further connection with the proposed improvement of Lake Shore aveue, I will take this opportunity of

will be absolutely necessary that a avoid the possible consequences of a

BIDS FOR HEADWORKS. On motion of Mr. Pessell, seconded by Mr. Pierce, the Council by unani-mous vote instructed the City Clerk to advertise for bids for the construc-tion of the proposed headworks on the Pomeroy & Hooker lands. The plans cover one section of the infiltration gallery, which is the first step neces-sary in the building of the municipal water system.

Wr. Todd presented an ordinance regulating the deposit of earth, gravel, stones and other substances on vacant lots in the city. The ordinance is intended to prevent street contractors from pilling earth on vacant lots in thickly-settled portions of the city, and provides that the property owners must be consulted and a penult obtained from the Council. It was referred to the Board of Public Works at the instance of Mr. Toll, who wished some addenda added with regard to digging gravel pits.

OTHER MINOR BOINGS. OTHER MINOR DOINGS.

On motion of Mr. Toll the Traction Company was instructed to lower its tracks to the official grade on Vermont avenue from Twenty-fourth street to Santa Monica avenue. It is asserted that the roudbed is in many places above the official grade, and as a result the free flow of storm water is interwinted.

With reference to the petition of Jacob Reichard et al., asking that certain piles of dirt on East Thirty-eighth street be removed, the Council directed that the matter be referred to the Street Superintendent.

The City Engineer was instructed to present an estimate of the cost of a pipe line to remove the water from the low ground at Park View and Elighth streets. The water is seepage from Westlake Park, just now augmented by the flow of storm water.

presented an amended petition for a franchise to distribute refrigerating materials on certain streets in the business section of the city. Some time ago a petition was presented without territorial restrictions, and the Council committee then refused to report favorably unless some changes were made. A new ordinance has been drafted providing that the franchise shall only apply to streets and alleys bounded by the Los Angeles Street and Third street, Los Angeles street and Third street, and including the bounding streets. The new petition was referred to the Board of Public Works.

A petition protesting against a pond of stagnant water along the line of Sixth street between Burlington and Vernon avenues was referred to the Board of Public Works. The pond receives the drainage from the hills and ravines on both sides of Burlington avenue and the overflow oil from sumpholes. Considerable damage was done by the last rain, and the petition states that the filthy water is a menace to the health of the neighborhood.

Merchants Protest.

As decided upon a few days since, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Asso-dation yesterday filed with the fire solicitation of funds for engine-houses by firemen. The protest states that iremen from the houses on Allso street and Towne avenue have been soliciting funds from merchants to buy furniture for the houses, alleging that the city did not have the money to buy stoves, chairs and tables. The document sets forth that the members of the fire department are paid stipulated salaries, and if their comforts require certain additions to the equipment of the single-houses they should pay these expenses out of their own pockets.

Knee-deep in Money.

Tax Collector White, armed with a formidable-looking Colt's revolver, was found last night a little less than knee deep in gold coins, the result of the last day of tax collections. The totals will not be made up until tonight, owing to the heavy mail, but Mr. White thinks there will be over $500,000 to account for on the first payment. An apportionment of $110,000 was made by the City Auditor yesterday. All funds except South Park are now on the right side of the ledger.

Mrs. Annie Nichols of San Francisco Wins Habeas Corpus Proceedings for a Lovable Child—Heartstrings Torn Over the Result.

"She loves those people, and it is hard to tear her away from them."

These were the words of Mrs. Annie Nichols of San Francisco yesterday, as she kindly led little Fern Rictow, her Mr. and Mrs. Jensen of University, who got her from the Humane Society, and on the 1st inst. adopted her as their

Mrs. Nichols was given custody of the little girl yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings in Judge Trask's court. She proved that she was the girl's guardian, and therefore entitled to her. In her petition she alleged that the doption of Fern was illegal, but Judge Trask didn't pass upon that point. Fern Rietow is 6 years old, and an orphan. She has beauty that is more than childish. Her eyes are big and bine like the sky, and her hair is flaxen and curly. Her face is like a lily. Once in a while it flushes with roses. She is intelligent far beyond half a dozen years; she knows.

She first came into public notice several months ago, when her uncle, Henry W. Rietow, the Spring-street jeweler, was fined $256 for cruel treatment of her while she lived in his home at the instance of her grandparents and her with the Jensens.

On October 25 the grandparents resigned as guardians, whereupon Humane Officer Craig induced the Jensens to adopt Fern before another guardian could be appointed. The adoption proceedings were had before Judge Smith on November 1. On November 2 Mrs. Nichols, the aunt, was appointed guardian in San Francisco, and promptly wanted her ward, and was as promptly refused by the fond foster parents.

Their habeas corpus happened, and yesterday the fond aunt won.

The Jensens, who are excellent peop'e of means and middle age, hold no ill will against the aunt for wanting her little niece, but are inclined to blame Humane Officer Craig for failing to notify Mrs. Nichols of the proposed adoption proceedings, and thus give her a chance to push her claim at that time, as she would surely have done. Four weeks of little Fern's life in their home have been so pleasant that the parting was painful. But if the Humane Officer hadn't been in such a hurry it needn't have happened.

Now Fern is to go back to San Francisco. Judge Trask held that a child cannot be adopted if it has a guardian. Even though the grandparents resigned on October 25, their responsibility for their ward held over until they were discharged and a successor appointed.

But now Price is accused of having a few sinister designs.

Benham says Price has threatened to sell, dispose of or encumber the stock to other parties ("to plaintiff unstrown") and that Godsmark now has the certificates in his possession ready to make the transfer "against the rights and property of the plaintiff" unless restrained therefrom by the mandatory orders of the court.

If the deal complained of goes through, Benham avers that the damage to him will be irreparable, and he alleges, on information and belief, that Price is insolvent and without money, means or property on which any judgment for damages in case of a wrong ful conversion of the Croesus stock could be collected.

Benham avers that the stock is now strictly his—or will be—and he asks that Price be enjoined from selling it and Godsmark from transferring it to anybody but himself.

BIG SUM INVOLVED.

CONTRACT WITH A BOAT IN IT. The case wherein H. J. Woollacott, the wine merchant, is suing the Wil-mington Transportation Company to recover $10,000 on an alleged contract, went to trial in Judge Fitzgerald's de-partment of the Superior Court yes-

In February, 1898, Woollscott con-tracted with the Bannings to put up $10,000 for the repair of the ship Hermosa to enable it to make Alaskan voyages during the Klondike craze, on many conditions, the principal one be-ing that he should receive one-fourth ing that he should receive one-fourth of the net profits.

But the Hermosa made one trip only, and Woollacott wants his money back. That trip was in March, 1898. Since then the ship has been plying between san Fedro and Santa Catalina Island. Woollacott alleges that the transportation company failed and refused to keep its end of the contract.

But the company's version of it is another story.

In its answer much stress is laid on that clause in the contract which provides that the Hermosa should do Alaskan trips only so long as the net profits amounted to $1500 a month or more. The first trip is March, 1898, cost $12,000, while the receipts amounted to but $6600, besides the expenses of a break-down 800 miles from Seattle on the way home, necessitating the services of a true. Other trips were not made because diligent drumming failed to elicit enough traffic. The Klondike boom was punctured about that time.

The company also alleges that Wool-

The company also alleges that Wool-lacott well knew why other trips were not made, and never made any objection of the abandonment of northern waters until recently. Not a murmur of protest, 'tis said, was heard from him when the ship was returned to San Pedro in June, 1898, and now is thought to be too late.

The lawyers will argue the case on Friday.

The court ordered the hearing continued for two weeks more, and meantime Huber is at the County Hospital.

DUMAS IS SICK. William Dumas of Agusa was examined as to his sanity yesterday and pronounced mentally clear. Although discharged, the doctors sent him back to the County Hospital for freatment, as he is afficted with heart trouble. Starvation is thought to be the cause of his present condition.

BELL SWINGS NORTH. County Clerk C. W. Bell is in Sacramento for a few days. He will return toward the end of the week.

KENNEY ESTATE. E. L. Kenney asks for letters of administration in the $5000 estate of her late father, Robert M. Kenney, who died of the 18th lnst. The heirs are the surviving widow, Mary A. Kenney of Long Beach and two daughters—petitioner and Mrs. Helen K. Mayer, who lives in Chicago.

BID FOR PAINTING. The successful bidder for the work of painting the County Hospital was awarded by the Supervisors yesterday to Green, Needham & Co. at $1044.

BIG RECEIPTS. Yesterday was the last day for the payment of the first installment of taxes, and the rush on the County Tax Collector's office was bigger than ever before. The amount of money taken in approximated $50,000. Emperor William has sent to the Reichstag charts, maps and statistics showing the growth of the Russian, British, French and United States navies, and also their strength in far eastern waters. In view of this same, the members of the Reichstag fear that another bill to increase the strength of the German navy is coming.

Police Court Notes.

K. Hassan was convicted of battery upon the person of Mrs. Silverstein in Justice Austin's court yesterday. The Silversteins have a store on First street, and so has Hassan. Mrs. Silversteins is alleged to have entited away a customer from Hassan, who reproved her gently with a kick in the region of the stomach. He will be sentenced on Wednesday.

Robert Ross was held over for stealing a shotgun after an examination in Justice Austin's court yesterday. His bond is fixed at $1500.

Perdro Monatana was arraigned before Justice Morgan yesterday on a charge of failing to support his children. He told the court that he is a poor man, and is doing all he can toward the support of the children. He will be tried Friday.

Tom Taylor, who can't understand how he came to be begging when he had money in his pocket, but who naively confessed to a few drinks, was fined $6 in Justice Morgan's court He is a boy, and has been working at the Sheep Trail mine in Arizona.

Wong Dong, Lun Long and Suey On were arraigned in Justice Morgan's court yesterday for violating the lottery ordinance.

Frank Williams, charged with grand, surceny, and W. J. Hill, the oil man, who is alleged to have debauched two young girls, were arraigned before Justice Morgan yesterday.

T. C. Faulkner, a grocer, alleged to have sold adulterated milk, was brought before Justice Morgan, and his trial was set for Friday. A number of other complaints have issued for alleged violation of the pure-milk law.

H. C. Vignes was tried before Justice Morgan for alleged cruelty to a horse. He drove a livery animal the other day to Whittler, and it died twenty minutes after his return. He claims that the horse was sick. Evidence was lacking to the contrary, and he was discharged. PHYSICIANS RECOMMEND THIS

COCIALISTS FORM CHRISTIAN UNION

CULMINATION OF MOVEMENT FOR NEW CHURCH.

Rev. R. M. Webster Will Lead the Flock, of Which There are Already Seventy-five Members in This City. By-laws Adopted.

The Christian Socialists of Los Angeles and Southern California formed a "union" at the meeting held last evening in the rooms of the Camera Club, No. 321 South Hill street. This is the culmination of the movement which was started a few weeks ago stead of a church, and its clergyman Rev. R. M. Webster, formerly of thi organization is to be called a union instead of a church, and its clergyman. Rev. R. M. Webster, formerly of this city, but now of Palo Alto, will be designated "president."

There were about 150 persons present at the meeting, and seventy-five of that number identified themselves with the union. Subscriptions were made which will give the organization a monthly income of $45, and more will be forthcoming, the members say. The object of the movement is explained by the ritual or by-laws which were adopted. They are an extract from a letter from Rev. Mr. Webster to James T. Van Rensselaer, who is one of the chief workers in the cause. Following is the extract:

"Believing that genuine justice musseek to express itself in all human relations—that it can never be satisfied with less than perfect equity in all public and social, as well as in private affairs—that it must ever strive to secure, to all the people, the full and equal possession of their common inheritance—to-wit, the earth with its lands and waters, its forests, minerals and all natural resources, together with that social product of all the past, called civilization, with its arts, sciences, literatures, opportunities and pleasures—that the principles of this perfect equity are clearly seen in the teachings of Jesus, and that the surest inspiration to the practice of it is in a simple and rational religious faith such as His, we, the undersigned, do associate ourselves to form a Christian Social Union, that we may promote both in ourselves and in the community a clearer recognition and a more hearty practice of that perfect equity. "The harmony with which we agree "I. That any one may become a member of this union by signing his or her name, in testimony of agreement with this general purpose, upon our roll of members.

"2. That the officers of this union shall be a president, to conduct the chairman of other pulcin meetings, and on other pulcits as occasion may occur—a secretary-treasury, to keep the records and the money of this union, subject to direction by the union—a board of five trustees to provide place of meeting, to be a committee of ways and means, and to hold and care for the property of the union—a Music Committee of three of which the president might be one, and a Press Committee to furnish for such papers as may desire it, such report of the meetings and work of the union as may seem likely to do good.

"3. That the union shall hold a regular meeting on Sunday afternoon at 3, and a weekly meeting every Monday evening, and such other meetings as, to the majority, may seem desirable.

as, to the majority, may seem desirable.

"4. That the officers shall be elected for one year, or to serve until their successors are elected.

"5. That the onnual meeting shall be on the first Monday in December.

"6. That these by-laws may be added to or altered at any regular meeting, two-thirds of the members of the union agreeing thereto."

Norris & Rowe's trained animal show is not a stranger to Los Angeles. Their show this year is larger and better than ever, and the opening performances yesterday afternoon and performances yesterday afternoon and evening brought out a good-sized audience. The acts this year are all new, several important additions being produced by trained elephants, sebras, sea lions and dogs.

Among the many specialities of the performance are "Jimmie Blaine," the rope-skipping pony; the waltzing ponies; "Roseberry," the tulking horse, who gave a really maryelous exhibition of brute knowledge, indicating by striking his hoof upon the ground his age, the number of days in the week, how long he had been a member of the troupe, how many meals a day he was furnished, and how many he wanted, which brought roars of laughter from the delighted audience.

Other novel features are "Foxy," the high-diving dog, who made a remarkable jump from the top of the tent

This liberty of action, this avidity for pleasure in the American girlone must not make a mistake—hide a great deal of good sense and honesty. There is not an example of a tradesman who has had to complain of an American. When they are at the end of their roll they take the boat. They never slip off in the night, nor pay with false checks. Hotel keepers know this and prefer not to let their rooms to Italian counts or Spanish marquises if the New York boat arrival is near. They make up the empty rooms by letting them for double to the Americans. A jeweler will send his clerk with a collar of pearls or a string of diamonds to an American family and give him orders to leave both if the family manifests the desire. It is improbable that he would do the same for a Russian prince.

"But with it all Americans are droll people. They have a culture for their feet. An American woman pays at much attention to her feet as to her hands, and cares for them with equal ettention. Many of them, in fact, are vainer of their feet than of their hands. This explains why they invented the Trilby. This game consists of hiding one's self behind a drapery and showing only a naked foot polsed on a pedestal. There are a contest and a prise for the most beautiful foot, and the man who divines to whom the foot belongs is equally rewarded.

The article is amusing as a reflection of French opinion of Americans.
After reading it one is no longer astonished at the reserve with which French families admit foreigners into their households or the length of time it takes them to realize that the well-bred American girl is as carefully brought up as her French sister, and that the newspaper accounts of American girls are as famtastic as those describing French life.

TOO GREWSOME.

the Illustrated Weeklies Carry Horrors Too Far.

[Worcester Gazette:] All our readers must have noticed to what an extent grewsome pictures are publishedden the illustrated weeklies. Keproductions of photographs of the dead fill the pages of every issue and inflict a shock of horror upon the sensibilities of the susceptible. A few years ago such pictures were unknown, but today they are so common as to cause no comment among the great majority.

The Cuban rebellion first called forth this style of tillustration. The press of New York began the use of pictures of the dead and dying and the illustrated weeklies were cuick to follow suit. The Spanish was started then in full cry after horrors. The Philippine war gave additional opportunities.
The South African war furnished more material. The Chinese troubles have still further increased the field.

In whatever illustrated pyper one picks up there are found trenches full of dead bodies, fields with dead scattered on them, pictures of dead men with ghastly eyes staring one in the face, bodies shattered out of all semblance to humanity, twisted legs and arms, severed members, pools of blood, dying horses, surgeons amputating limbs, etc.
Every pictorial paper is a chamber of horrors. If there be a flood or a fire, or a famine the corpass of the victims are phocographed in all their hideousness and set before the eyes of those who shudder even to read the story.

This thing has been carried too far.
The public will be hardened rather than merely onlightened. A better idea than could have been had previously of the truth of the saying,
"war is hell," is conveyed by these realistic reproductions, but there is a limit to the extent to which the lesson can be properly-carried and that was reached long ago.

RELIC DESTROYED.

The Villa Murat, Once the Home of Eliza and Caroline Bonaparte is Being Torn Down.

ing Torn Down,

[Rome Correspondent Pall Mall Gazette:] Like so many landmarks in these days of commercial interests, a Bonaparte villa at Trieste is being demolished to make way for warehouses. It is a sad plty to let so interesting a relic be done away with, and, indeed, the city of Trieste did once talk of buying the palace and sardens, in the interests of the public, but the project fell through.

the city of Trieste did once talk of buying the palace and gardens, in the interests of the public, but the project fell through.

The Villa Murat, a handsome building of two stories with fine rounded porch in front, was built in 1800 by a Russian, but in 1815, after Waterloo, it pacaed into the hands of Elisa Bonaparte, ex-grand duchess of Tuscany, and her husband, the prince consort, nee Bacclocchi. The latter, when the second restoration closed the first period of the Bonaparte history, one day said to Talleyrand. That which emplements have been been dependent of the empire has left me without name. I do not know what 40 coll-imyself." "Why not take that of Bacclocchi: it is vacant," retorted Talleyrand, with unconcealed irony. The ex-prince consort took the advice. He was in no wise a great man: in fact, he was the shadow of his wife, who had many of the governing qualities of her brother, but facked the personal charms of her sisters. At the palace in Trieste she gathered a little court about her, attracting all that was fashionable, intelligent and desirable there, among her guesta being the great Paganini. Shortly after, Caroline Bonaparte with her four children, arrived, there to await Murat, who was, however, unfortunately killed while trying to reconquer his kingdom. Elisa turned the villa over to her widowed sister, when it took its present name. Caroline was also born to command, but not so mech by her qualities as by her personal beauty. Imperious, beautiful, favelnating, the conquered and kept the heart of Murat, which had been thought invulnerable, while Metternich was her slave, but at Trieste, in her widowhood, she thought of nothing but her duties as mother. In 1820 Elisa died at the age of 43, her husband remaining in Trieste or veven years more. In 1827 Caroline, assuming the title of Countess of Livona, craatram of the word Napoli (Napies), went to Florence and the villa was closed. Later it fell on evil days and is now almost no more. What a pity!

MISSIONARIES' MISTAKE.

Their Habit of Gathering Chinese Children Into Schools Has Been Misunierstood.

[Julian Ralph, in London Mail:] And the mention of the children brings us to the worst trouble the missionaries have-sperhaps it is their greatest mistake, as well. Children are so much more easy to work upon than adults and so much easier to procure as subjects that the missionaries of all the sects are prone to gather them into schools and orphanages. Some Protestants charge the Roman Catholic workers with counting bables as converts; but it seemed to me that all allke strive to gather in as many chi'dren as possible. There is sense in doing ro-or would be, were it not for what I am coming to. It is in the way that their enemies are provided with a terrible weapon—an easy and flerce way of string the people against them.

"Why do they want the children?" these egi ators ask. "Why do so many die on their hands? It is casy to see. They carry 'look-see' boxes (photographic comeras.) What of that? Why, those boxes have to be filled with eyes in order to look-see. Well, these are the eyes for a schildren. And that is by no means all. These white people have bad livers, and take our children's livers to cure themselves. They cut out the children's hearts and dry them to grind into powder, which they take as a medicine, hoping to sequire Children's least of these foreign devils and their frien's. DENVER. Nov. 26.—Senator Henry

effect on the silver question, the defeat of Bryan will have, said that he did not intend to abandon the silver question because of the result of the recent election:

"The silver question is not dead," he continued, "and will be a live question in American politics for years to come, and I am firmly of the opinion that we will ultimately return to the bimetallic system, in my judgment the only system that can secure stability of prices and equity between the creditor and debtor."

Speaking of important legislation to be enacted by Congress during the coming session, he said:

"I anticipate that there will be an attempt made to increase the regular army, independent of any force that may be necessary for the Philippine Islands, to the extent of 100,000 as a permanent army. I doubt very much whether such a measure can be passed during the short session. So far as I am concerned, I am very much opposed to it, and will do all I can to prevent it. I am quite willing that the government should have all the forces in the Philippine Islands that may be necessary to restore peace, if it is the policy of the administration to dispose of that question in that way.

HENRY POOR INQUEST.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Coroner's inquest today in the case of Henry W. Poor, the veteran who lost his life in a burning house. Sunday night, resulted in a verdict of accidental death. Evidence, which gave the veteran's untimely taking off a sensational turn was introduced, but the jury did not consider it sufficient to warrant pointing the finger of suspicion at any one. Charles C. Foss of Terminal Island related how he reached the burning house a minute or two after the alarm. He saw the apparently helpleas veteran reaching an arm through a little window hole as if implorting help. Foss tried to break in the door, but it was apparently fastened within and, although he is a strong man, he could not burst it. He saw coal oil running out beneath the door. He was sure it was coal oil, for it burned, but did not ignife instantly as gasoline would. A moment later Foss saw Chauncey Poor, the brother of the doomed man, come from the rear of the building hatless and shoeless. Poor laughed and said: "I lost everything, but never mind." Poor did not offer any explanation of the fire.

Chauncey Poor, who had been arrested by Night Officer Lindskow an hour or two after the fire on a charge of disturbing the peace, told the Coroner's jury that before the fire he had left the house where he and his one-legged brother lived to go down town. He said that he left the gasoline burner turned half on, and told his brother that if the stew in the pot over it boiled too freely he was to HENRY POOR INQUEST.

legged brother lived to go down town legged brother in the jet the gasoline burner turned half on, and told his brother that if the sitew in the pot over it boiled too freely he was to turn the gasoline off. When he returned he smelled gasoline and found the flame out. His brother said he had turned it out. Chauncey lit a match and the vapor from the gasoline which had been leaking through the wrongly-turned cock puffed into a flame, which set the room all affre. Chauncey said he had barely time to get out of that room. His brother was in the other room, the doorway being provided with a thin curtain, but no door. Chauncey said he tried to open the door leading from the outside into the room where his brother was, but a piece of furniture within would not permit the swinging of the door. Chauncey said there was a small can of coal oil a few feet from the stove.

According to testimony given by Willeliam Lorst, Chauncey Poor was in one of the water-front saloons Sunday officeroon in an apparently intoxicated condition. In the course of some rambling talk Lorst heard Chauncey say: "I'm going to lick my brother."

Testimony given by Chauncey Poor and partially confirmed from other sources showed that the dead man had about 1500 werlh of property in lands and securities, but that his wife and daughter, both of whom are living, would have prior claims on the estate, so Chauncey would not profit by his brother's death.

DEPUTY CONSTABLE'S TRIAL.

WHITTIER, Nov. 26.—{Regular Correspondence.} The trial of John Crosco on the charge of an assault with a deadly weapon upon Francisco Frasquies was begun this morning before Justice L. M. Baldwin. The State was represented by Assistant District Attorney Fredericks and the defendant by H. H. Appel of Los Angeles. About twenty witnesses had been subpoensed and the majority of them were present. The testimony developed the facts that Orosco, who was recently appointed a deputy to Constable Wilson of Long Beach, had gone to the eld mission on the night before election to arrest Frasquies on a warrant for a breach of the peace committed at San Gabriel last March. Frasquies resisted arrest, and in the struggle a bullet from the Constable's revolver went through Frasquies's thigh. It was also brought out that Frasquies had served a term in San Quentin for highway robbery. DEPUTY CONSTABLE'S TRIAL.

Westminster is on the tiptoe of excitement as the result of rumors of a street railway. The story is that an electric line will be built from Long Beach to Santa Ann. An $80,000 power and during the week the inmates will be transferred from their present quar-ters in the Arlington Block to the new building, a commodious and modern structure.

At a citizens' meeting this afternoon the proposed ordinance to widen side-walks in order to save the shade trees on city streets was indorsed by unan-imous vote. LOADED FOR CHICKEN THIEVES. ANAHEIM, Nov. 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] Chicken thieves have been making life miserable in this town for owners of fowls. For three town for owners of fowls. For three or four weeks they have done a whole-sale business, though very diplomatically, taking only one or two birds from each roost visited. The range was wide, however, and the visits frequent. Now those who have suffered have concluded that it was not cats or coyotes that got away with their poultry, and have entered into a diversified plan of defense. Chicken coops now harbor every form of device, from live electric wires to the old sing-loaded musket with a rope attached to the trigger. It is dangerous in that part of town most affected for a man to go in his own back yard at night, because these devices are no respecter of persons when the ropes are pulled.

GREAT SCHOOLS OF TUNA.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] Robert E. Masters, the pioneer scientific fisherman of the Long Beach waters, makes one of the latest contributions to tuna literature. For several days lately large schools of the tuna have been leaping and playing over many agres of water off the Bolsa shore. Mr. Masters spent a few hours the other day trolling among them with a rowboat. The weather became very stormy, and the wind kicked up such a choppy sea that it kept the occupants of the skiff busy most of the time managing the craft. In the face of all the difficulties Mr. Masters, out of three strikes, succeeded with rod and reel and light tackle, in landing two of those acrobats of the sea. The and reel and light tackle, in landing two of those acrobats of the sen. The swells were running so high and were breaking to such an extent that a man could scarcely keep a position in the boat to play a fish, and it was an up-hill fight from start to finish. The men in the boat were thoroughly tired when they came ashore.

The Chamber of Commerce has received a block of an oak tree seventeen inches in diameter which grew in the Santa Ynes Valley. Mr. Torrence, who sent the block, states that the tree grew whore there was no seepage and that the only moisture was from rainfall. The tree contains 13° well-defined sap rings, which form a chart of the two centuries of its growth. About one hundred years ago, according to these rings, there was an extreme dry spell lasting about six years, during which the growth was very slicht.
